

AFS Financial Projection

AFS mission is funded through the generous gifts of individual donors and many partner organizations, including corporations and corporate foundations, member organizations, and both state and federal government agencies.

Our generous donors have the right to know how their dollars are invested in the fight to overcome the challenges of living with autism and to accelerate therapies to improve the quality of life, manage symptoms, find cures, and save lives.

The Better Business Bureau (BBB) Wise Giving Alliance dictates that nonprofit organizations should spend at least 65% of their total expenses on programs, research, and services, and no more than 35% on fundraising.

As shown in the graph, we project to report that we are well within the 35% fundraising limit, and $.71 of every dollar is used to fund program development into new therapies, education and awareness, and advocacy efforts.
